The members of the Father Whitty society celebrated the sixteenth anniversary of their organization with a banquet and entertainment in St. Mary's hall, North Scranton, last evening. In the main hall, which was beautifully decorated, the guests enjoyed dancing until 11 o'clock. The young men's room on the second floor were received for the reception of the ladies.

CHARLES BIBERICH INSTANTLY KILLED. Was Crushed by Machinery in the Breaker of the Gibbons Coal Company.

Charles Bieberich, a 14-year-old boy, who resided with his parents at 1020 Beech street, was killed yesterday in the Gibbons breaker, and before the machinery could be stopped the body was badly mangled. The boy was employed as a slate-picker at the breaker, where the accident occurred, which was recently acquired by the Gibbons Coal company, James Murray, the breaker, which is located above the Erie railroad in the Nineteenth ward, has been modernized by the new management, and a large number of men and boys are now steadily employed there.

Bieberich, it appears, was passing from one coal chute to the other, when he slipped and fell into the rolls, which in revolving crush the coal. The little fellow was dead when found, and the head, face and shoulders were crushed and mangled, so that death came almost instantaneously. The remains were carried to the home of the parents, nearby, and Coroner Saltry was notified. He will make an investigation today.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be made in the German Catholic cemetery at No. 5.

DEATH OF W. W. VAN DYKE. Well-Known Business Man Passed Away Last Night. William W. Van Dyke, one of this city's best known business men, died last night at his home, 302 Jefferson avenue, at an illness of only two days. The disorder which brought about his death was neuralgia of the heart.

Mr. Van Dyke was born in Herkimer county, N. Y., on November 28, 1836. He was engaged in business for a number of years in Utica, N. Y., and came to this city in 1883. Shortly after his arrival here he organized the Scranton Brewing company in conjunction with Michael Hand, and some years later was largely instrumental in organizing the Meadow Brook silk company, of which he was the president.

He was also interested in the Collins-Hale Manufacturing company, and was the senior partner of the firm of Keller & Van Dyke, piano manufacturers. His business standing was exceptionally high throughout the city, and he was generally recognized as a man possessed of an exceptionally keen mind and of a most distinctly forceful personality.

He is survived by his wife and by the following two sons and one daughter: William P., and Mrs. A. L. Collins, of this city, and A. D., of Worcester, Mass. Two sisters also survive him, Mrs. Mary Drew, of Utica, N. Y., and Miss Jane Van Dyke, of Siquoit, N. Y. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

NIGHT OF GRAND OPERA. Mascagni and His Company Here on Night of Dec. 8. From the interest aroused by the mere announcement of the coming of Mascagni and his superb operatic company it is safe to say that the Armory will be packed on the night of Dec. 8, as it never has been before. A night of Grand Opera under ordinary conditions is an event to arouse the enthusiasm of our music lovers, but a company under the guidance of the famous composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana" is an event in the musical history of our city, which rates into insignificance such artistic successes as the Seubrich, Nordica and Schumann-Heink recitals.

The critic of the Boston Journal, Philip Hale, writing of a recent performance in that city, says of Signora Coppola, "a living transfiguration of rare intensity. As Santuzza she comes nearer to the wronged woman of Virgils' piteous tale than any singer who has visited us, and I do not forget Calve." To the other leading characters, taken by Alma Stantell, Signor Schravazzi and Signe Bellatti, the same writer gives the highest praise.

OBJECTED TO HIS PRAYERS BECAUSE MARTIN KULGASKI WORKED DURING STRIKE.

Pulaski Guards Would Have None of Him—Though He Is the Captain. He Was Shown No Respect. He Refused to Put a Motion Which Denied Benefits to Any Person Who Worked During the Mine Strike, and Was Forcefully Ejected from the Meeting.

The Pulaski Guards were out in force last night in Magistrate Miller's court, where a case brought by Captain Martin Kulgaski and High Private Albert Majeski against High Privates Stanley Njeski, Stanley Leveck and Mike Pakulash was heard.

Kulgaski and Majeski both worked during the progress of the recent strike and because they did so they stirred up resentment against themselves among the other guardsmen, all of whom are loyal union men.

This resentment finally developed last Sunday into open rebellion at a regular meeting of the guardsmen held in their regular hall in South Scranton. One of the duties which devolves upon the captain is the reading of set prayers prior to the opening of the meeting. When Kulgaski got on his knees to say the prayers, the other members refused to kneel and swore by all the gods that no "scab" would lead them in prayer.

A motion, providing that no person who worked during the strike should be entitled to any benefits, was put when a semblance of order was restored. Kulgaski refused to entertain the motion, whereat he was expelled from the society first by enactment and then by bodily force.

He caused the arrest of Njeski, Seveck and Pakulash last night on charges of conspiracy and assault and battery.

The conspiracy alleged is that they conspired with the other to deprive him of his just rights and privileges as a member of the society, and the assault and battery charge is closely connected with his forcible expulsion. Magistrate Miller held all three defendants under $500 bail each on the charge of conspiracy, and Seveck and Pakulash under $500 bail each on the charge of assault and battery.
